

Meissen Porcelain Dogs

Meissener Porzellanhunde

1875-1925

Meissen Porcelain Dogs is a collaboration between Hugh Davies, a specialist in Meissen porcelain for over twenty years and Dr. Hans Sonntag, head of the Museum at Meissen. The text, written in both English and German, covers the years 1875-1925 and illustrates over forty new models of dogs produced at a time when technical development was encouraging innovation at the Meissen factory.

The artists and assemblers are identified, new techniques of production are discussed and factory markings are illustrated.

It is hoped that this book will introduce the reader to an aspect of Meissen porcelain that is still relatively unknown.
